

Buckle Up the Right Way!

Babies (up to around age 1) use rear-facing infant seats.

Small children (about age 1 to 4) use forward-facing seats.

Bigger kids about (age 4 to 8 or 4'9" tall) ride in booster seats.

Kids up to age 13 must ride in the back seat.

Parents, follow these guidelines to Keep Your Child Safe

Kids up to age 8 (or 4'9" tall) must ride in "appropriate restraints," and kids up to age 13 must ride in the back seat according to Washington State law.

Remember
Until they're 4'9"
boost 'em
every time
